Empress Eugenie Befriends 'Beggar'

PARIS, Jan. 23.—A woman dressed in deep mourning was walking down the Champs Elysees when an old man, shivering in rags, passed by. The woman opened her purse and was about to place some money in his hand when a policeman placed a heavy hand on the old man's shoulder and said, "I arrest you on the charge of begging."

"You have made a mistake, officer," said the woman. "We were merely settling an old account." Then turning to the old man she pressed 100 francs ($20) into his hand. The woman was Empress Eugenie.

Invention Makes Dead Heart Beat

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 23.—Dr. M A. Ellman caused a human heart taken from a dead body to pulsate as in life by means of a recent invention. An electric light attached to the device is placed inside the heart. The instrument is expected to be of benefit in the treatment of heart diseases.

No Decollette Gowns at Gibbons Dinner

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—It developed today that there were no decollette gowns at the dinner given in honor of Cardinal Gibbons by the Misses Patten last night. Probably for the first time in their lives many society leaders wore evening gowns "cut high," in deference to the well-known objection of the Cardinal.

Taft Souvenirs Are Sold at Cut Prices

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—As former President Taft emerged last night from Aeolian Hall, where he had been lecturing, a street pedler shouted, "Souvenir of Mr Taft," and held aloft a large button bearing a picture of Wilson's predecessor attached to a red, white and blue ribbon. Mr. Taft's face wore a reminiscent expression as he gazed at the relic which sold for fifty cents in 1912. Then the "Taft smile" beamed when the vendor cried, "Only ten cents."

Air Boat Line for Chicago Suburb

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—The establishmen of a new suburban transportation line on which air boats will carry passengers between Grant Park, Lake Forest, a suburb twenty-eight miles to the north, and the South Shore Country Club, twelve miles south, was announced today. Harold F. McCormick, millionaire son-in-law of John D. Rockfeller, is one of the organizers of the line. The fare will be 50 cents a mile.

Strike-Breakers Stoned in London

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Violence broke out today in the strike of coal porters and drivers of coal vans. Wagons operated by strike-breakers were stoned and police guards had to be furnished to protect the non-union drivers. Two thousands drivers of merchandise carriers joined the strike during the morning. The coal shortage is being keenly felt.

ALL TOGETHER! JOIN AMERICAN SUNSHINE CLUB!

How are things with you?
Good?
Well then, let's say so.
How?
Easy! Join the Boston AMERICAN'S Sunshine Club.

The Sunshine Club. It's the greatest invention of the age—the greatest "get-together" plan—bound and sure to lift Boston's average prosperity in leaps and bounds if we all get together.

Former Governor Foss is a charter member of the club. So are you all, if you join now. Mr. Foss, joining the club, commented:

"I am an optimist in my view of the outlook for business during the next year," he said. "We are going forward, although people have undoubtedly been holding back for the situation to clear up. Money is plentiful and there is no question that it will be very much easier. Confidence is returning.

"The President's message was inspiring in many ways and I agree with him, as everybody who studies the situation must agree, that the railroads are improperly tied up to good business. If they are reasonably prosperous, it will go a great ways toward bringing about a general revival in industry.

"In my judgment the railroads have made a very good case for an increase in rates and the commercial bodies have indorsed the position which the railroads have taken. It would appear that they are entitled to the increase requested and that the granting of it will go a long ways towards increasing the general prosperity."

If you are an optomist; if you hope or believe things are going to be better, fill out your membership application and send it in. Join the "Sunshine Club," and let's make Boston hum.

Would Shift Poles to Control Weather

LONDON, Jan. 23.—"We have spent millions to build railroads, why not expend capital to control the weather?" was the keynote of Sir Oliver Lodge's Kelvin lecture before the Institute of electrical engineers last night.

According to his theory, the sun discharges on the earth a mixture of ions charged with positive and negative electricity, but the magnetic poles coax the positive portion to the polar regions, where they are wasted giving pyrotechnical displays like the aurora borealis, while the warmer climes get the benefit only of the negative ions. He, therefore, advocates shifting the magnetic poles.

A Pointed Preachment on Finding a Position

Being without employment is an experience that almost every man has been through at some time or another. It's part of the past history of many of today's most successful men.

If you're anxious for a job, here's an antidote for idleness. Briefly, it's this: Scan closely the "Help Wanted" ads in the American. Lose not a moment in answering those which appeal to you. Put your whole heart and energy into the effort.

To make assurance doubly sure, supplement your effort with a "Want Ad" of your own. State your qualifications clearly, positively and sincerely. When the ad is written, leave it with any of the America..s "Want Ad" stations, the branch office at 264 Washington street, or the

FOUND SANE BY COURT

CONCORD, N. H., Jan. 23.—Harry K. Thaw's star is in the ascendant. He has won three rousing victories in only a little over a week, and it is freely predicted here that Judge Edgar Aldrich will next week release him on bail.

The last of his three remarkable victories was announced in Pittsburgh dispatches today. A Pittsburgh court, upon his appeal for $30,000 of his funds held by a trust company on the ground that he was insane and unfit to handle them, has ruled that Thaw is to all purposes sane, and has awarded him the $30,000.

Thaw's series of victories began with the decision of the bail commission appointed by Judge Aldrich, that Thaw is sane.

This decision was made upon researches by the most eminant alienists in New England. These men conducted the most rigid examination of the prisoner. In their report to Judge Aldrich they declared that he was sane and that his release on bail would not constitute a menace to public safety.

REBUFF TO JEROME.

The second victory came yesterday —from Washington. William Travers Jerome, after a conference with Attorney-General Carmody and Governor Glynn of New York, openly announced that he planned to ask the Federal Department of Justice to advise Judge Edgar Aldrich that he had no right to consider New York State's good faith in the Thaw extradition proceedings.

Attorney-General McReynolds and his assistants put a quietus on this plan. The Attorney-General said:

"New York State is the interested party, not the government of the United States."

And Assistant Attorney-General Adkins commented:

"The department is without jurisdiction in the Thaw case."

This rebuff to Jerome was followed today by the Pittsburgh decision.

The Thaws feel the Pittsburgh case is proof of what they have consistently maintained since the dash from Matteawan, that is, that Thaw is sane.

Thaw asked for $50,000 of the accumulated income on his father's estate.

Judge J. J. Miller in the Orphans' Court of Allegheny County, granted the desired permission. In his opinion he found that "Thaw's detention did not deprive him of capacity to take care of his property."

Several months before "the Man from Matteawan" made his escape into New Hampshire, he filed a petition that the Fidelity Title and Trust Company should show cause why it refused to advance him $30,000 which it held in trust under his father's will.

CHIEF'S READY TODAY.

The trust company replied that Thaw had "committed a capital offence" and had been declared insane, he was not deemed a fit person to take charge of money.

Thaw thereupon formally filed a declaration of his sanity, desiring that a test case should be made.

He asked for a trial of the case by jury, but Judge Miller found that Thaw was so plainly in the right that no trial was necessary.

There is now left in the bank a larger sum of accumulated interest. This amounts to $130,733. Thaw's friends believe he may have this for the asking, following Judge Miller's outspoken ruling. They do not feel that any further legal battle will be needed.

$80,000,000 FOR NEW WARSHIPS

TOKIO, Jan. 23.—Demands of the Marine Ministry for an appropriation of $150,000,000 for the construction of twelve new dreadnaughts were made to the Imperial Diet today. After sharp debate the appropriation was cut to $80,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Ignoring the diplomatic tangle between Japan and the United States Secretary of State Wilson today sent to Congress a letter endorsing the Asiatic exclusion bill now before the Immigration Committee of the House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Stunned by the two announcements of Japanese policy which followed each other at intervals of only twenty-four hours, official Washington today awaited with intense interest the next move in the diplomatic game between the Mikado and this government.

While President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan profess to believe that the announcements of yesterday and the day before mere statements of the trend of Japaness policy, diplomats in Washington make no secret of the fact that they consider the pronouncements to be direct slaps at the United States, slaps which the Japanese intend to make the basis for further and more hostile action against this government.

The fact that Baron Makino's utterances concerning the California alien land law and the Mexican situation severely censure the United States for lack of definite action long members of the diplomatic circle to the conclusion that the Japanese Foreign office has inaugurated a series of attacks on the policies of this government which are intended to enlighten the Japanese people and to cause them to demand some drastic action against the United States.

SPECIFIC CAUSE.

Thus the Mikado's government will have a definite and specific cause for demanding the retraction of the California legislation and immediate intervention of Mexico, with the alternative of an open contest for the supremacy of the Pacific.

Secretary of State Bryan and today that the Japanese statement concerning Mexico came as a complete surprise to him. Yesterday, he says he had been informed in advance of Baron Makino's speech on the California alien land law matter, but President Wilson said he had heard nothing of it until he read it in the papers.

Mr. Bryan would make no comment today on the Japanese view of the Mexican situation. Military experts consider that Japan hopes to bring the present crisis to a head within the next three months before the opening of the Panama canal. It is no secret that the American fleet on the Pacific at the present time is practically powerless, while Major-General Leonard Wood, chief-of-staff of the army is authority for the statement that our army would be unable to repel an invading force which had secured a landing.

OPENING SHOTS.

Until the canal is opened, therefore, Japan has little to risk, and her only difficulty appears to lie in seeking an adequate excuse for declaration of hostilities. This excuse, it is feared here, may lie in the California and Mexican problems, and the two speeches of Baron Makino may form the opening shots in a contest to decide who is to rule the Pacific.

THE WEATHER.

Fair and warmer tonight: snow or rain and warmer Saturday; increasing south to southwest winds.
Sun rises 7:06; sets 4:47.
Moon rises 5:31 a. m.
High tide 8:45 a. m.; 9:30 p. m.

WARE "GRAY WOLF" Malden Mayor's Warning "WILL CLEAN CITY"

Beware the gray wolves—the elderly mashers. I believe goodlumism is not traceable to juveniles who come under the curfew law, but is caused by the "older young men." Police Commissioner Rhodes will clean up the city in a short time.—Warning to young girls and their parents by Mayor Shumaker of Malden.

DRAMATIC RECITAL OF KILLING

A fourteen-year-old girl, in a plaid jacket, with her blue stocking-cap pulled down low on her forehead, stood on the witness stand at the manslaughter trial of Patrolman Charles W. Miller today and gave her version of the way Miller shot Ralph P. Shea early in the morning of June 17, in a Warrenton street doorway.

The girl is Louise Costello, who lives at No 10 Foster street, Cambridge, and who was living at No. 108 Warrenton street at the time of the shooting. The doorway was opposite the death corner.

The girl said in direct examination and under cross-examination, that Miller fired his third shot into the doorway where Shea was. She even declared that Miller tested his left hand on the side of the doorway as he fired.

Her description of the shooting as brought out by successive questions was WITNESSED PURSUIT.

"I was standing at the corner of Eliot and Warrenton streets with Catherine Bresnahan. I saw officer Miller strike Ralph P. Shea, and then I ran over to my doorway at No 108. As I ran I kept looking around. While I looked around I saw Officer Miller take his revolver with his right hand out of his back pocket. Then I stood in my doorway, and I saw Miller chase Ralph Shea up the street. Mr. Murphy (stabileman) was ahead of him.

"As the officer ran after Shea I saw a flash from his revolver going in the direction of Shea. I saw Shea run to No. 105 doorway. I saw the officer stop at the entrance of the doorway. He placed his left hand on the wall, near the doorway, and his right hand, in which he had the pistol, was pointed in the doorway. Then I heard the third shot in the doorway. After that

Tells Dairymen They Must Advertise

HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 23.—Dairymen must advertise to be successful in their business, according to President Frederick E. Duffy, in his annual address to the Connecticut Dairymen's Association at its annual convention here. President Duffy urged every member of the organization to advertise.

ATTEMPT LIFE OF KAISER'S SON

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—An attempt was made to assassinate Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm this afternoon as he was leaving his auto to enter his home.

At first it was thought the assassin had wounded the prince.

The man escaped.

The crown prince is thirty-two years old. He married Princess Cecelie in 1905 and they have two children.

The assassin's attempt on the Crown Prince's life is the second. Three years ago a Polish madman tried to kill him while he was riding at the head of the Grenadier Guards, the crack Prussian regiment. The madman hurled a big stone pot at the Crown Prince, missed him and succeeded in seriously wounding a policeman who was just saluting Fried rich Wilhelm.

MANY QUARRELS WITH THE KAISER.

Several years ago while hunting elephants in India the Crown Prince's life was saved by a British soldier. An infuriated elephant charged the Crown Prince, who barely escaped being torn to pieces.

The Crown Prince has four sons, William Frederick, Louis Ferdinand, Hubert and Frederick.

Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm has had numerous spats with his father the Kaiser. These family quarrels have long been famous. It is said that the Crown Prince was often taken to task and spanked by the Kaiser for disobedience and other things.

Until recently he has been immured at Danzig, in which city he was exiled by his father during a fit of paternal displeasure.

Hurley Raises Pay of Laborers

Mayor John F. Hurley of Salem doesn't take water from any Mayors in this neck of the woods when it comes to raising salaries. On his initiative, the pay of city laborers was today boosted from $2.40 to $2.60 a day. Last week the policemen got a raise, and many more increases are pending.

House Would Have U. S. Own Radium

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Chairman Foster of the House Committee on Mines told the AMERICAN today his committee would report favorably this week the bill for government control and development on public lands of all radium-bearing ores.

Votes for Women, but Only to Mothers

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 23.—E. T. Lewis, a conservative member of Canadian Parliament, announced today that he will introduce a bill giving suffrage to women with the restriction the only mothers will be allowed to vote. His slogan will be "No babies, no ballots."

Wolcott Qualifies on Insanity Board

Roger Wolcott of Milton today qualified before Governor Walsh as a member of the State Board of Insanity.

Pupils Run School Bank.

The Chelsea Grammar School's savings bank, maintained and run by the pupils, now has deposits of $1900. Superintendent Frank E. Parlin suggested the bank. Carl E. Ouellet, an eighth-grade pupil, is president.

Go to Ship in Distress.

BEAUFORT, N. C., Jan. 23.—Red rockets fired from an unidentified vessel off Beaufort Bar has called the life savers from the Macon station into action. A boat was dispatched to the assistance of the ship.

Boston Home for Use of Cambridge Elks

Cambridge Lodge of Elks is to borrow the big home of Boston Lodge of Elks on Somerset street for a ladies' night on Wednesday, February 18. The officers of Boston lodge offered their home for the evening and Cambridge lodge gladly accepted. The committee includes Fred L. Murray, chairman; Daniel Hurley, secretary; Frank Rogers, John J. Corkery, Joseph L. Gomes, Joseph H. Hooker and Dr. Lippincott.

Free South Boston Men in Liquor Case

Marcus K. Crosby, proprietor of a drug store at No. 312 East Fifth street, south Boston, and his clerk, Mercer H. Hampton, were in court today for illegal liquor selling. Crosby and the clerk testified that Reserve Officer Ginty, who made the complaint, told them his sick daughter was dying—that the whiskey would save her—and that thereupon they gave him half a pint from the prescription bottle, and refused pay. Judge Fallon found the two accused men not guilty and discharged them.

Women Save House Threatened by Fire

HAVERHILL, Jan. 23.—Women armed with axes and dishpans and pails put out a fire that today threatened the home of Mrs. Michael Takeston on Birch avenue, three miles from Haverhill, and a full half-mile from the nearest telephone. The damage was $150.

Woman Philanthropist Dead.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 23.—Mrs. Rose A. Fogarty, prominent as a philanthropist, is dead in her eighteth year, of pneumonia. She was the widow of Philip Fogarty.

Referee Snow Drops Dead.

DETROIT, Jan. 23.—Neil W. Snow, the football referee and one of the game's greatest players and athletes that the University of Michigan has produced, dropped dead here. He refereed the last Harvard-Yale game.

GIRL TELLS OF SHOOTING BY MILLER

I went with Catherine Bresnahan over to the doorway."

When cross examined by John P. Feeney, counsel for Miller, the girl stoutly declared she had not talked over the case at all with Catherine Bresnahan last night as she walked home with Catherine.

Mr. Feeney asked her with emphasis:

"Didn't you talk about the case at all?"

The face under the blue-stocking cap became more grave. The girl hesitated perceptibly, then said in positive manner: "No."

As on previous days the courtroom was crowded. Policemen in citizens clothes were seen. They were taking some of their leisure time to attend this trial of a brother officer.

After the direct examination of Louise Costello Mr. Feeney, in cross-examination, first asked her if she had talked about the case. She said a reporter interviewed her Wednesday. Then the examination went on.

Q—Didn't Catherine Bresnahan tell you about the case? A—She didn't tell me what she said.

Q—Where did you go last night after court? A—To Catherine's house on Warrenton street.

Q—You don't live there. Why did you go that way? A—Well, I just walked up with her and had a chat.

Q—Didn't you talk about the case at all? A—(Hesitating) No.

ATTACK WITH CLUB.

Louise said she saw a pistol in Miller's right hand. She did not see Miller fall. Up to 9 o'clock that evening she had been at Ellen McIntyre's house at No. 103 Warrenton street.

The girl said that Thomas F. Murphy, the stableman who was at the scene, had run up Warrenton street "ahead of Shea." Murphy testified yesterday that he was running in the street behind Shea. But Louise stuck to it, when Mr. Feeney dwelt on this point, that Murphy was leading.

Louise testified that Miller clubbed Shea, as Catherine Bresnahan had testified. She said:

"I saw Miller at Eliot and Warrenton streets hit Shea over the head four times with a club."

Medical Examiner Timothy J. Leen testified yesterday that there were no marks on Shea's skull, such as a policeman's billy would make in four cases.

Richard Dunn, the Shawmut avenue youth who testified for the State yesterday that Miller shot Shea on the stairway at No. 105 Warrenton street, was severely grilled on cross-examination when court opened.

Attorney Feeney attacked Dunn's story first in the cross-examination of how long he stayed in the Collins flat at the top floor of No. 105 Warrenton street after the shooting.

The cross-examiner secured an admission from Dunn that he didn't remember whether he had said in the lower court hearing that he stayed at Collins' two hours. Then Dunn said he had told the Grand Jury he stayed at Collins' until 6 a. m. Then he said he didn't remember whether he had told the Grand Jury he stayed there two hours.

Lastly Dunn said he was "certain" he stayed at Collins' house four hours or more.

CALLS FOR RECORDS.

Finally Mr. Feeney called for the Grand Jury records and, in spite of objection from Assistant District Attorney Webber, secured a reading of Dunn's testimony in the Grand Jury room that he stayed at Collins' "about two hours."

As soon as court opened Dunn was put on the stand for continued cross-examination and Mr. Feeney took the witness in hand.

Q—Had you been drinking that night? A—No.

Q—Did you say yesterday that you didn't drink? A—I didn't mean all the time.

Q—Do you mean to tell me that you hadn't been drinking that day? A—Yes.

Q—Do you mean to say you hadn't been drinking for three months? A—Yes, sir, emphatically.

NOW SAYS FOUR HOURS.

Q—Did you know Ralph Shea? A—Yes.

Q—How long did you say you stayed in Mr. Collins' house that night? A—Four hours.

Q—Where were you going to eat when "Connie" Bresnahan was arrested that night? A—At a lunch room on Washington street.

Q—How long after that did you go home? A—(Indistinctly) I don't remember.

Q—Did you say you stayed two hours in Collins' house in your testimony in the lower court? A—(Hesitatingly) I don't remember.

THE FINEST LAXATIVE IN THIRTY CENTURIES

Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil Is Truly Tasteless—Not Flavored or Disguised.

For 3,000 years castor oil has been the world's best laxative, but until now an offensive, sickening taste has limited its use.

For 3,000 years chemists have tried to remove the taste.

Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil is just what the name means—a pure, clear, refined oil without any taste. It is the newest product of Spencer Kellogg & Sons of Buffalo, large refiners of vegetable oils.

Anybody can disguise the taste of castor oil by mixing it with alcohol, wintergreen, peppermint or other flavors, but it remained for the Kelloggs to keep the oil pure and make it tasteless. Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil works even better than the old, evil dose, without pain or griping. Children take it easily.

Sold now in all drug stores, 25c and 50c. Ask for Kellogg's Tasteless and look for the trade mark on the label—a green castor leaf, bearing the Kellogg signature. Made only by Spencer Kellogg & Sons, Inc., Buffalo, N. Y., oil refiners.

HISTORY CONTEST

WINNERS WILL BE ANNOUNCED IN THE SUNDAY AMERICAN February 8th

FLORENCIO CONSTANTINO, who, girl swears, proposed three days after meeting her.

Copyright by Mishkin, N. Y.

CONSTANTINO FIGHTS GIRL'S BIG HEART SUIT

Florencio Constantino, the former tenor of the Boston Opera Company, is in New York today defending a breach of promise suit brought against him for $100,000 damages by petite Miss Marcelle Hontabat, who formerly lived in Boston, where she alleges the proposal of marriage took place. She is now a cabaret singer at Rustanobys's in New York.

The suit was begun before Justice Platzek and a jury in the Supreme Court. Miss Hontabat is expected to take the witness stand today to tell her story.

Attorney Schankman said he would show the tenor had promised to make the cabaret songster his wife.

Attorney Thomas H. Fowlette, representing Constantino, said he would prove that the girl visited the tenor at his apartments in Boston and asked him for the opera tickets so that she might hear his great voice.

Miss Hontabat, called to the stand, at first demurred when her age was asked, but finally said she would be twenty-six years old in March. She and Constantino were neighbors in Boston in 1911, at which time Constantino was also singing in Boston.

Three days after their first meeting, she said, the tenor proposed marriage to her. She had not been long in this country at the time. She testified that Constantino told her he could make an artist of her and that they met frequently.

Then counsel asked some questions of the plaintiff that caused her to give full play to her emotion and she wept. Miss Hontabat said under cross-examination that she did not know that Constantino was a married man.

She was not sure whether the defendant was serious when he proposed to her, she said, but after two weeks she accepted.

Toasts President with Clear Water

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—While E. O. Wood, Democratic national committeeman from Michigan, drank a toast in clear water to the President of the United States, Mr. Wilson pressed a telegraph key which flashed to Flint, Mich., a signal for the opening of a big municipal filtration plant.

Award Woman $150 for Heart Balm

Letteria Sacco of No. 25 Billerica street won a verdict of $150 from a Suffolk jury, in her suit against Agostino d'Arrigo of No. 5 Geneseo street for alleged breach of promise to marry. D'Arrigo testified that Miss Sacco wanted a de luxe wedding trip to Europe and he didn't like the idea.

VAGRANT DOE ARRESTED IN SOMERVILLE

Locked up in a cell at the Somerville police headquarters is a big-eyed, fuzzy-haired little wild doe, "arrested" and taken to the station after an exciting deer hunt in East Somerville today. They didn't put the frightened creature through any third degree, but when it came to a question of booking the prisoner, somebody asked the desk sergeant:

"What are you going to put on the blotter?"

"Mrs. John Doe," responded the sergeant.

"And the charge?"

"Plain vagrant, arrested for having no visible means of support—having no dough, you see."

The timid doe was caught by six men after a chase of a mile or more up hill and down dale through East Somerville streets, and in and about the old McLean Asylum property. At least 100 men and boys took part in the hunt.

The doe was carried to the station in the police automobile. Chief Kendall said he would turn the deer over to the State Fish and Game Commission to be set free, probably in the Middlesex Fells.

Townsend Urges Deep Waterway

DETROIT, Jan. 23.—United States Senator Charles E. Townsend of Michigan told the members of the Lake Carriers' Association at their banquet here that the annual volume of commerce on the Great Lakes would be ten times as great as "the most optimistic estimate" of annual commercial trade through the Panama canal, if the natural waterway course from the head of the lakes to the Gulf of St. Lawrence were sufficiently improved to enable ocean going vessels to reach lake ports.

He predicted that the marine improvement, costing many millions, eventually would be made, "either by Canada alone or by the United States and Canada."

$100,000,000 Spent on College Athletics

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Jan. 23.—Athletic expenses of colleges in the United States amount to more than $1,000,000,000 a year, but the major portion of the money does not go to pay for physical exercises of the students. This information was contained in the report of Dr. H. Shindle Wingert, director of physical education at Ohio State University.

BIG CROWD TO HEAR PLEA BY MRS. BELMONT

Boston suffragists today declared they were overwhelmed with demands for tickets to the Tremont Temple meeting tomorrow night at which Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont is to speak. The meeting, they declare, will be even a greater success than they at first anticipated.

Mrs. Maud Wood-Park, Mrs. Mary W. Page, and Mrs. Francis H. Williams compose the committee that has arranged for the entertainment of Mrs. Belmont while she is in Boston. She wishes to meet both working and college girls for discussion. Miss Margaret Hatfield, daughter of former Mayor Charles E. Hatfield of Newton, is on the reception committee which will meet Mrs. Belmont.

This is Mrs. Belmont's first public appearance in Boston. She will speak on political corruption and its cure, and will afterwards hold conferences with local suffragists. At these conferences she is expected to broach plans for building in Boston a "Suffrage Building."

A large number of girl-workers who are suffragists requested that they be given the honor of escorting her from the Hotel Copley-Plaza to Tremont Temple. Mrs. Belmont will receive her escorts in her apartments in the Copley-Plaza just prior to leaving for Tremont Temple.

The following are among the girl-workers who will act as Mrs. Belmont's personal escort: Stenographer, Miss Helen E. Coming; telephone operators, Miss Helen Melville and Miss Nellie Morissey; laundry workers, Mrs. Kezia M. Greenwood and Mrs. Alice V. Watson; saleswomen, Mrs. Elizabeth Wakeman and Miss Elizabeth Bagley.

This, Then, Is to Announce the Retirement of Mr. Richardson

After serving the discriminating and discerning men of Boston for more than a generation, Mr. Richardson has decided to retire from active interest and participation in this business. His good taste, good judgment and high standards have contributed much to its success. We regret his retirement, profoundly and sincerely.

Counting it unethical to trade under his name without your knowledge, and compelled through conditions to adjust equities and interests without quibble or parley, it is necessary to dispose of EVERY PIECE of merchandise in our entire stocks which is identified with the Richardson label, at price concessions which CONCEDE TO YOU ALL the profit and, in the majority of instances, PART OF OUR COST.

To insure the absolute clearance of every piece of Richardson merchandise, the extraordinary price reductions extend through our entire stocks of clothing, furnishings and hats. Many of the STANDARD BRANDS, which seldom, if ever, are subjected to reductions, have been subjected to the drastic measures necessary to serve the end.

The following schedule of revision is but partial—no matter what your need may be in garments or dress requisites, you are certain to find them involved in the offer.

Sincerely, William H. Richardson & Company, Incorporated

By HENRY C. SOUTHWICK, Treasurer.

HIDE NAME OF WOMAN IN GOELET CASE

People of social prominence in Boston, as well as others equally prominent in New York and Newport, are likely to be called to give testimony in Mrs. Robert Goelet's suit for divorce, when it comes up in Providence, next month. It was strongly intimated by friends of the multimillionaire and his beautiful wife today.

Though report persists that Mrs. Goelet may bring into the case the name of a Boston woman whose friendship with her husband is alleged to have begun when he was a student at Harvard, this woman's identity is still carefully shielded. Detectives, who have been active since last Summer, are, however, declared to be ready to furnish some particularly interesting testimony.

Newport's residents, today's dispatches say, recall that a number of men from New York and Boston detective agencies were particularly active in society's Summer capital at the height of the season. They are declared to have been looking for a sequel to what are reported to be Boston chapters in the now blighted $50,000,000 romance of the Goelets.

RUMOR ANOTHER DIVORCE.

It is also now said that Mrs. Ogden Goelet during her stay in Europe also had detectives in Newport who kept her thoroughly informed of matters regarding the Robert Goelets.

Mrs. Ogden Goelet will return from Europe to be with her son and probably Mrs. Cornlius Vanderbilt will come to Newport, as will Mrs. Craig Biddle, a sister of Mrs. Goelet now in Europe.

In addition there are rumors affecting another family circle, in which a wife prominent in the social avenues of Newport, New York and some portions of Europe is said to be consulting New York attorneys.

Mrs. Goelet, who has just reached Daytona, Fla., is denying herself to all interviewers, today's dispatches say.

LATE NEWS BY CABLE

Set New Styles at "Futurists'" Dance.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The annual Three Arts ball of the Futurists, which began at Covent Garden last night and ended late this forenoon, has set the following feminine styles for "advanced futurists": Vermilion hair with plumes intertwined, orange complexion, purple trousereties with pearl buttons, and "tango belts." also of purple, with straps in the back for the male partner to clutch. Most of the women attending were actresses.

German Cigarette Trust.

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—A cigarette monopoly is to be established by the German government to increase the national revenue, it was learned here today. Raids were made at Dresden to ascertain if affiliations existed between the American Tobacco Company and German firms.

Garibaldi Portrait Gift.

Sales at Christie's Begin.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Christie opened the season with a sale of decorative furniture. One lot comprising two old English settees, two armchairs and six chairs, with shield-shaped backs, brought $555.

Try "Mona Lisa" Thief Feb. 26.

FLORENCE, Jan. 23.—Vincenzo Perugia was committed for trial for the theft of Leonardo da Vinci's "Mona Lisa" from the Paris Louvre. The trial will probably begin on February 26.

Accused Opera Director.

PARIS, Jan. 23.—The case of M. Broussan, one of the directors of the Opera, was sent to the Correctional Court, the director being charged with assaulting M. Lunlecki, who accused him of graft.

FEEL YOUNG!

It's Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets For You!

Beware of the habit of constipation. It develops from just a few constipated days, unless you take yourself in hand. Coax the jaded bowel muscles back to normal action with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel. Don't force them to unnatural action with severe medicines or by merely flushing out the intestines with nasty, sickening cathartics.

Dr. Edwards believes in gentleness, persistency and Nature's assistance.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets open the bowels; their action is gentle, yet positive. There is never any pain or griping when Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are used. Just the kind of treatment old persons should have.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two occasionally and have no trouble with you liver, bowels or stomach. 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, O. All druggists.

WOMEN IMPATIENT TO HEAR U. S. BARONESS IN MONTE CARLO SUIT

Baroness May de Pallandt, who is fighting $20,000 suit of American who says he has system tha t wins at Monte Carlo.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Fashionable women of London are expected to make Judge Darling's session of the Court of King's Bench look like a drawing room, on account of their craze to see the American Baroness May de Pallandt, who is being sued for $20,000 by Dr. Ernest Villiers Appleby, son of Archdeacon Appleby of St. Paul, Minn. There is added interest in the case because of the plaintiff's testimony he has a system that won him $50,000 in a year at Monte Carlo.

The testimony reveals intimate details of the lives of Dr. Appleby and the fair Baroness that will make seats in Justice Darling's court at a premium.

The fact the Baroness collapsed on the witness stand, under a withering cross-examination Tuesday, and was unable to appear today, has only whetted society's interest in the case.

The Baroness was overcome with emotion while denying to King's Counsel Hall (for Dr. Appleby) that she was the original of a certain photograph which, the counsellor said, had been obtained from the American police.

Dispatches today quoted the counsellor as saying that, to date, he has only touched upon the Baroness' career and that his cross-examination will go much deeper.

Martial Law in Trinidad Strike

TRINIDAD, Col., Jan. 23.—Complete martial law prevails here today as a result of the rioting that followed the refusal of the authorities to let striking miners march to the hospital where "Mother" Jones is held a prisoner.

MILITANTS TO USE VIOLENCE IN HARRYING KING

PARIS, Jan. 23.—A campaign designed to reach King George personally, by violent means if necessary, will commence on the return of Mrs. Pankhurst to London. The militant leader plans to leave this city for London on the opening of Parliament.

Mrs. Pankhurst and her daughter Cristabel have come to the conclusion that their efforts heretofore have not produced results commensurate with the sacrifices made.

Although the matter has been hushed up, the suffragettes have incurred such serious injuries in their personal contests with the police that some have succumbed and the health of others has been ruined.

Mrs. Pankhurst recently appealed for volunteers to carry out the new policy of harrying the King personally and hundreds of responses have been received including many from titled women. She expects this new policy will force the King to ask Premier Asquith for special protection; that the Premier, unable to furnish this, will have to resign.

Lord Strathcona to Rest Beside Wife

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Westminster Abbey is not to be the last resting place of the body of Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, late high commissioner for Canada, who died early Wednesday. The relatives of the dead statesman have definitely decided to carry out his wish, and bury him in Highgate Cemetery, North London, beside his wife, who died in November last.

Robert H. McCall, M. D., Cincinnati, O., writes: I have used a lady patient suffering from an obstinate case of vomiting. A week's trial dose of anti-kamnia tablets has given her the nervous excitement, mental worry and the distressing vomiting vanished. The case was a tedious one and I think was attributable to the influence of the gestation. Ask for A-K tablets.—Ohio Medical Journal. **

INVESTIGATOR FINDS BULGARS MOST WORTHY

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Stephen Hobhouse, who until a year ago was an important official of the Education office and resigned there in order to devote himself to relief work among the refugees in the Balkans, is now in London. He had returned to England after a visit to the front, where he gathered a great deal of information concerning which has accumulated in Bulgaria. I visited the refugees from the districts across the Turkish frontier, also their recognized Armenian and also others who fled before the hatreds of the Greeks and Servians. There is little to choose in their respective conditions.

"The Bulgarian peasants impressed me as a fine, manly, industrious, clean living, industrious race. Their governing classes are slitting throats among the Balkan peoples for their enlightenment and toleration.

BRADLEY GIRL INAUGURATES HUNGER STRIKE

PEMBERTON, N. J., Jan. 23.—"Cutey" Bradely, eighteen-year-old stenographer who eloped with her middle-aged employer, Joel M. Foster (otherwise Snocks) and was brought back from Mobile, where they were arrested, kept things stirring today.

"Cutey"—Delilah, to give her real name—was veritably a prisoner in the cottage of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Bradley. All her clothes were locked up except a nightie, a kimona and a pair of blue slippers.

But the confiscation of the clothing was not deemed sufficient. Mrs. Bradley, the mother, and Mrs. Delora Potter, an aunt, mounted guard over the front and back doors of the place, and a detective watched the windows. Under those circumstances "Cutey" was obliged to "stay put."

The first thing she did here was to inaugurate a hunger strike. Her brother, Charley, about twenty-three, who had been able to handle her better than the others, aroused her at 7:30 o'clock and offered a tempting breakfast of lamb chops, toast and coffee.

"Take it away," she exclaimed. "I won't eat it. I won't eat anything if I'm going to be kept here. Why was I brought back, anyhow? I'm going to get away and get back to Joel some time, surely, and I might as well be allowed to go to him now."

Crepe Always on Hamilton's Biplane

The death of Charles K. Hamilton, the aviator, at his home at No. 225 West One Hundred and Ninth street, New York, brings to light the fact that he has always carried on his aeroplane a piece of black crepe, which was put on his biplane following the death of Miss Harriet Quimby, the aviatrix and William A. P. Willard at the Boston aviation meet in June, 1912. Hamilton never ceased to forget the tragic end of Miss Quimby's life, as she was one of his best friends.

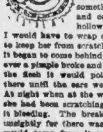
UNSIGHTLY PIMPLES COVERED CHEEKS

Itched and Smarted. Also on Chest, Arms and Behind Ears. Worst at Night. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Entirely Healed.



R. F. D. No. 3, Box 32, Union, Maine—"When my little girl was about three months old I noticed several little pimples on her face which filled with a watery matter then broke and ran together, and soon both cheeks were entirely covered. It seemed to itch and smart. It would break out again sometimes on her chest and on her arms in the hollows at the elbow. I would have to wrap cloths around them to keep her from scratching them. At last it began to come behind the ears and whenever a pimple broke and the matter touched the flesh it would poison and break out there until the ears were sore all around. At night when at the worst I would notice she had been scratching it and would find it bleeding. The breaking out was quite unsightly for there was a discharge which would come from it and run down upon her neck a good deal of the time. She remained in this condition for over a year.

"Nothing did any permanent good until I got Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used them according to directions. In two weeks when it was entirely healed and has never broken out since." (Signed) Mrs. J. Irwin Miller, April 12, 1913.

Cuticura Soap 25c. and Cuticura Ointment 50c. are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

☞Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it begs for skin and scalp.

DENIES INTENT TO KILL YOUTH BY SHOOTING

William P. Johnson of No. 21 Garrish avenue, Revere, pleaded not guilty in the Chelsea Court today to the charge of assault with intent to kill seventeen-year-old Alfred Gallant, whom he shot after a chase from Johnson's house, which had been entered.

Judge Bessom accepted the plea and turned Johnson over to Probation Officer Ellen Hutchinson under $1,000 bail to appear February 6 for examination.

Johnson was surrounded by a crowd as Gallant was carried to the street. Several threats were hurled at him and the timely arrival of the police probably saved him from injury at the hands of the crowd, threatened as the shooting was about to close in.

Gallant is under arrest at the Frost Hospital, in charge of Dr. Gill, on a charge of breaking and entering. It is said he will live. The bullet almost passed through the upper part of his right thigh and he will probably have to undergo an operation to remove it from the bone. Its path, after having broken into Johnson's room, was traced by a life insurance company. His home had been broken into a short time ago and since then he had been on the lookout for burglars. late last night he says he heard a noise and told him there were burglars in the house.

Setting his revolver, Johnson crept out of his room and says he saw the Gallant boy in the hallway and asked him what he was doing there.

"I am trying to ring the bell," Gallant is said to have replied.

"Throw up your hands," commanded Johnson, as he raised the revolver.

Instead of doing what he was ordered, Johnson says Gallant turned and fled through the front door into Gerrish avenue. Johnson is said to have pursued Gallant and fired one shot. The boy uttered a cry and dropped in the street.

A crowd collected and Johnson was threatened with injury. He appealed to Patrolman Clement McCarthy and Sergeant Joe Ferguson, and was locked up while young Gallant was hurried to the hospital. The boy resides at No. 764A Broadway, Chelsea. Johnson told the police his home had been entered and robbed several times and that he had bought the revolver to protect his property.

Von Jagow to Give Up German Post

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—The retirement of Gottlieb von Jagow, as Foreign Minister of Germany, is expected to be announced shortly. It was stated by the Post, today.

FITZ WANTS TO LOCATE THAT HALF MILLION

Mayor Fitzgerald wants to know! please Mayor-elect Curley, where that $500,000 is?

Mr. Fitzgerald has Mr. Curley's word for it that he—Mr. Fitzgerald—is worth $500,000.

"But if I am, I want the money," declared His Honor.

"As soon as Mayor-elect Curley gets back to Boston, I am going to see him and find out where that half-million is. What he says about there being no money in politics is essentially true. Lomasney is in the real estate business. He has saved half of what he has earned."

All the discussion started over some remarks by Mr. Curley, made on "Who's who in Boston politics." Mr. and Mrs. Curley are stopping in seclusion in a town between here and Pittsfield, and the Mayor-elect is at work on his inaugural. What Mr. Curley said was:

CURLEY'S STORY.

"Mayor Fitzgerald is worth $500,000. The newspaper, the cigar business and the other businesses in which he is interested pay well, but the Mayor is such a dynamo of energy that he would succeed in any business.

"Martin Lomasney was set down as "a patient and persistent plodder, one of the "over-at-it type," who should in time become very wealthy.

"John H. Lee was a shrewd and careful business man, and will succeed in anything he undertakes. He, too, will become wealthy.

"Daniel J. Kiley was an able man and would be successful in any line, while H. E. Nawn was one of the best subway contractors in the country, always winning work in open competition.

LOOKING FOR CRANE.

"The Mayor-elect was looking today for ex-Senator Crane, and declared: "One of my reasons for coming to the Berkshires was to see Mr. Crane on two matters. I want his advice on how to attract large industries to Boston. I will also going to ask his advice with regard to the reorganization of the Boston & Maine Railroad. Both of these matters are of vital importance to the city. I regard Senator Crane very highly and his advice will be of benefit."

Pope Reported to Be Again Indisposed

ROME, Jan. 23.—Reports were current today that Pope Pius X. is again indisposed, although the pontiff's health of late is said to have been exceptionally good.

FOUR MEN ROB CHICAGO TRAIN AT GUN POINTS

BARDOLPH, Ill., Jan. 23.—The Michigan Central passenger train No. 1, westbound for Chicago, was robbed by four men between Jacksonville and Pierce, early today. Two masked bandits covered the conductor, brakeman and porters with revolvers, while the other two went through the sleepers taking the money and valuables of the passengers. There were no murders.

The robbery was accomplished without a shot being fired. The engineer says he had no knowledge of what was going on, as the train sped through the darkness. Ten miles east of Parmer the robbers pulled the cord, stopped the train and disappeared. The train carried one conductor. The robbers boarded it at Jacksonville.

Among the passengers was Samuel Cramer, president of the Cramer Ship Building Company of Philadelphia. He had $10,000 in cash and valuable securities with him, but was not molested by the robbers. He entered the car in which he was sleeping.

Sleeping passengers were aroused through a hole purled within perforated clothing and gripe to the and made a hurried search. There were several women in the car, but they made no outcry. An invalid was taken to Pierce on the train before it showed the robbers got $125. No attempt was made to enter the express car.

LIFE TERM FOR MAN WHO SHOT TORMENTOR

Samuel Knestian, who last June shot and killed Andrew Saul in a workroom in the factory of the Hood Rubber Company at Watertown, was today sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder.

He shot Saul—a fellow workman at his own workbench, as the result of the nagging and teasing to which he had been subjected by Saul and Saul's companions, since his transfer to this particular workroom from another part of the shop.

Today before Judge Keating in East Cambridge, he pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree. District Attorney Michael J. Corcoran told Judge Keating that inasmuch as there had been considerable provocation, he believed the plea should be accepted. Knestian was thereupon sentenced.

CHURCH DAY OBSERVANCE TO BE WIDESPREAD

Boston's Go-to-Church-Day on February 8 will be observed in all the towns within a radius of fifty miles of this city. This was announced today by one member of the Boston publicity committee, who has been writing letters to the country districts.

The ministers of Weymouth have organized and will advertise the day with cards in the store windows as well as in all the cars. Several persons have offered their wagons as advertising mediums which will carry placards one week before Sunday, February 8.

The Rev. H. C. Alford, pastor of the Old South Church, South Weymouth, is chairman of the local committee and will be assisted in the campaign by the Rev. A. B. House of the Congregational Church, the Rev. G. A. Grant of the Methodist Church, and the Rev. William Hyde of the Episcopal Church.

OVERCOME INDIFFERENCE.

The Rev. William Hyde, in referring to the day, said: "It's a good move to have this Go-to-Church-Day. Everybody believes, more or less, the churches are doing some good in every locality.

"The Go-to-Church-Day is to get out a class for a Sunday who may be able in less than short time to get an inkling of what the churches and persons are doing.

"Go-to-Church-Day will be observed in Weymouth and we expect every one to go to church on that day. We expect something more than the non-church goer will try to get over his indifference to the church.

"All the churches want is a fair show in every town. We do not want anyone to go to church through fear, but we want them to go to church because they see in the churches the power of good for every community."

Brockton churches have voted to observe Go-to-Church-Day, Sunday, February 8. The Rev. W. M. Dunbar, the Rev. Paul Sperry, the Rev. Dr. F. Cooper, and Abbott N. Packard comprise the committee.

TO TRIPLE ATTENDANCE.

Chairman M. W. Wright of the Brockland committee said:

"The Go-to-Church Sunday movement has struck Rockland and the Baptist, Congregationalist, Methodist and Unitarian Churches have set aside Sunday, February 8, for its observance. Committees have been appointed by each society to act on a general committee for the promulgation of the movement. The general committee met at the Rockland Y. M. C. A. rooms and decided to purchase advertising space in the local papers, issue window cards and personal invitation cards. The Y. M. C. A., through Secretary Smith, is to make a house-to-house canvass explaining the purpose of the day and delivering the card invitation for the entire family."

H. M. White, M. W. Wright and J. S. Smith were appointed a committee in charge of the newspaper publicity and Secretary Smith of the Y. M. C. A., Everett Ally and D. M. Wise, a committee for the window cards and house-to-house publicity. The endeavors of the committee are to triple the attendance for the day.

"Pape's Diapepsin" settles sour, gassy stomachs in five minutes—Time it!

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you can't injure it with "Pape's Diapepsin" drugs.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Its millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble has made it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any druggist, store, and then, if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.

BE WARY TODAY

Tis Friday, the Twenty-third

SKIDOO-HOODOO.

Take a good look at your calendar!

Friday, the Twenty-third!

It's the old skidoo-hoodoo—first cousin to Friday, the Thirteenth. Hence be careful to get out of bed on the right side, eat cautiously, tell the bill collectors you'll pay if they come around the next time Friday falls on the 23rd count twenty-three if inclined to swear, and for goodness sake proceed warily along the streets lest you slip.

Blazing Auto Truck Blocks Street Car

A blazing and abandoned auto truck on Dorchester avenue, near Old Colony avenue, today blocked an inward-bound Dorchester avenue car. Some auto expert on the trolley car discovered the flames were in the neighborhood of the gasoline tank, and that an explosion was only a matter of a few seconds. The car was quickly empty. The fire department took care of what was left of the auto.

CHILDREN FLEE LODGING HOUSE FIRE IN MALDEN

Several women and children were forced to flee from a lively fire which destroyed the upper part of the lodging house known as the Hotel Pleasant at No. 267-274 Pleasant street, Malden, shortly before noon today.

William Cunningham, fifty-five, a lodger, was caught on the fifth floor, but made his escape down a ladder placed against a window by officers. Mrs. Margaret Ahearn and her six-months-old daughter, Helen, were assisted to the street by Officer Duke Muldoon.

SLEEP DISTURBING BLADDER WEAKNESS BACKACHE-RHEUMATISM, QUICKLY VANISH

Even Most Chronic Sufferers Find Relief After A Few Doses Are Taken

Backache, urinary disorders, and rheumatism, are caused from weak, inactive kidneys, which fail to filter out the impurities and keep the blood pure, and the only way to get rid of backache, rheumatism, and other similar conditions, is to make the kidneys healthy so they filter and sift all the poisons from the blood, and drive it out of the system.

So sure, so positive, so quick and lasting, are the results obtained from the use of Croxone, that three doses a day for a few days are often all that is required to cure the worst cases of backache, regulate the most annoying urinary disorders, and overcome the numerous other similar conditions.

It is the most wonderful preparation ever made for the kidneys, and is entirely different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth to compare with it. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results.

You can obtain an original package of Croxone at Fiffing coat from any first-class drug store. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if Croxone fails to give desired results, regardless of how old you are, how long you have suffered, or what else has failed to cure you.

'LOST SISTER' TELLS HOW SHE FOUND FOOTING

"Janet Wright," the fictitious name under which a prominent Boston social worker has been writing "Greater Love," the narrative of the adventures of Boston's lost and found sisters, has received a remarkable letter from a Lynn girl, who signs herself: "One who found her footing." The revelation from the whiskey cesspool of Chicago white slavers. The girl writes:

Dear Madam:

I have been reading your very interesting stories and think that they will be the means of saving the lives of many people.

I know you have heard many a tale of sorrow, but perhaps you would care to hear mine. It is not, just now this poor basket and heart of mine, but perhaps you have not heard another just like it.

I was born and brought up in the heart of Boston. As I grew to be a young woman, my mother never had me a cent. What I learned I learned from my playmates. Home was not for me. Mother was out too much to entertain and was never interested in our work or play, and never cared to make home a place of happiness. At the age of seventeen an aunt in Chicago invited me to make her a visit.

TOOK TRIP ALONE.

My folks let me make the trip alone. I was a pretty girl, full of life and good complexion. On the train I was interested and when a nice, neat looking, middle-aged woman spoke to me, I showed.

I told her where I was going, and she said that was mine, that Chicago was her home. She also told me she lived together in a small apartment, and that they all worked and had a pleasant time. Women in and do their work. She said that I must come to see her.

No need of all the details. When we arrived in the Dearborn station, she did not accompany me but kept on the road. For some reason or other I was there a good deal. We played cards and said that I must go to her home until we could telephone to my aunt.

I did not think of the foolishness of this, and accepted her invitation. We walked to her home. It was a common looking block, not to indicate I entered. I saw the difference. All was splendor. Cigarettes and wine were passed me. I was urged to have just a little glass of wine.

BEGGED FOR FOOD.

Well, the wine was drugged and when I awoke the next morning I was a prisoner. I begged and begged me my "kind friend" ate a bird like three days I had to feed them they gave me bread and tea. Then a regular inmate, for those months.

No need of my telling you of all the realities attempts to escape. At last I was to taken, a young man of some ability, a miracle, knew the baker in this. He was good, and to me. The rest is work and have been good ever since.

I tell you this because it is different from your stories. My downfall came through a man. My salvation, through a man.

May God bless you and help you in every way, and all those who help the erring, may they be blessed likewise.

Eight Billion Cigarettes

BUSY SIX MONTHS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—During the six months ending December 31 there were consumed in the United States 70,000,000 gallons of whiskey, 4,090,390,000 cigars and 8,711,000,000 cigarettes, according to a statement made by the internal revenue bureau. The revenue from the whiskey tax was $16,420,854. All the taxes showed an increased consumption.

HUERTA TROOPS MUTINY AT FIVE STRONGHOLDS

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 23.—Mutinies of government soldiers at five important points was reported to the War Department today. General Huerta, ruler of Mexico, admits an "Colonial Palace early in the day and is said to have informed him that it would be impossible to keep the regular army loyal unless money was received in order to pay the soldiers.

None of the soldiers have been paid for several months and discontent is said to be rife among members of the capital garrison. If these picked soldiers mutiny, the downfall of Huerta is certain.

Leaders of the foreigners' defense committee, made up of British, French, German and Spanish residents, declared today that they had received word that Great Britain had decided to land marines to protect the interests that have foreigners in Mexico City. This report has no basis in fact. The fighting soldiers have discussed the report.

EL PASO, Tex., Jan. 22.—The arrest at Fort Bliss of 2 of the detention quarters of the Mexican soldiers who surrendered to the United States military authorities after the fall of Ojinaga was strengthened today. Every precaution was not taken to prevent the Mexicans from escaping, but to prevent the number of refugees from being increased. There are now nearly 5000 Mexican men, women and children at Fort Bliss, which is 500 more than were there 24 hours by Major McNamee. These 400 landed at Fort Bliss yesterday and joined their fellow-countrymen.

General Mercado, who commanded the Federals at Ojinaga, has been put in charge of the prison camp, which is under the direct control and supervision of the American military authorities. All the Mexicans are compelled to adhere to strict sanitary measures to prevent disease.

URGES LAW TO MAKE ALL FOOD CARRIERS CLEAN

"All persons handling the public food supply should act as if they were carriers of disease, and they should not only act as if they might convey infection, but they should be made so by official regulation, so far as that is possible," declared Dr. Theobald Smith during his lecture before the Boston Women's Municipal League on "Scientific and Popular Conceptions of Cleanliness."

"Not all persons," he added, "not even the majority, are germ-carriers, yet the factor of safety demands that they should consider themselves as such. It may seem somewhat original to place producer and dealer of food in the category of suspected persons, yet it cannot be avoided. All lines of food products should be free from any active confections disease. They should have clean hands, mouth and nose, and they should be cautioned against mouth spray while handling food.

"Their dress should be clean. Cleanliness demands running water, soap, clean towels and opportunity for care of the finger nails. It is surprising how many articles of food, especially candies, are picked up by the hands when sold."

Dr. Smith called attention to the need of cleanliness in the home, the danger from flies and dust, and the inability to take in disease germs while eating small fruits and uncooked vegetables.

ANNIE PECK TO TRY RECORD MOUNTAIN HIKE

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—In order to establish a new world's record for mountain climbing Miss Annie S. Peck, the mountain climber of Providence, R. I., is seeking funds to back an expedition which she is willing to undertake. Miss Peck has been in conference with James E. Sullivan, secretary and treasurer of the American Athletic Union, and has asked him to interest scientific societies and other organizations to finance an expedition.

The record is now held by the Duke of Abruzzi, who got within 400 feet of Bridge Peak, a mountain in the Himalayas, 25,000 feet high.

"In this project," said Miss Peck, "I would have the benefit of the friendly advice of the Duke of Abruzzi, who informed me that the cost of his expedition was $27,500.

"The expedition could be called after anyone who was willing to finance it, as was done in the case of the Zeigler expeditions.

A famous scientist condemns the light bottle

We reprint herewith an extract from an opinion rendered by a famous scientist showing that beer in light bottles can not remain pure.

"Beer bottles should be manufactured from reddish-brown glass, inasmuch as same will to a much higher degree than any other kind of glass, minimize the influence of the rays of light on the quality of beer, and will protect the latter against acquiring the disagreeable taste (Sonnengeschmack) due to the chemical action of light. . . . . .

"In white and green glass bottles the beer is most affected by the action of the light. Such bottles are, therefore, absolutely inappropriate and should never be employed by brewers."

(Signed) Prof. Dr. F. Schonfeld.

From the Illustrated Brewery Encyclopedia, p. 90 (Illustriertes Brauerei Lexikon.) Published by Dr. Max Delbrück, Privy Councillor, Professor at the Royal Agricultural College and Director of the Institute for Fermentology at Berlin. Berlin: 1910.

Wickersham Assails Wilson Trust Policy

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—A sharp attack on President Wilson's anti-trust program is made by George W. Wickersham, President Taft's Attorney-General, in an interview published here today.

"The suggestion that the various practices by which hurtful restraints of trade and monopoly of commerce are sought to be accomplished can be explicitly and item by item forbidden by statute in such terms as will practically eliminate uncertainty, is but a delusion and can only lead to introducing into the law, now reasonably clear and certain, elements of uncertainty which will compel a new process of judicial interpretation and lead to a new era of worse uncertainty than anything which went before it," the former Attorney-General is quoted as saying.

Fine Chiropractor J. Shelby Riley $100

J. Shelly Riley, president and founder of the "New England College of Chiropractic," was found guilty of illegally practicing medicine by Judge Murray and was fined $100. The prosecution of Riley was the first step of the State Board of Registration in Medicine to stamp out the Chiropractors in Massachusetts.

NEWTOWNE CLUB SPLIT OVER TANGO

"The tango, which some call nice, others naughty, and some both naughty and nice, continues a bright and shining mark for its assailants today. The Newtowne Club of Cambridge is all "het up" over it.

On the eve of the annual show, President Charles H. Lake says there shall be no tangoing under Newtowne Club auspices.

Miss Elsie M. Howlett and Miss Ruth Irving favor the tango.

"I suppose it is true, as they say," explained President Lake, "that these dances are all right as long as they are properly done, but who does them properly?"

"The new dances are perfectly right," asserts Miss Howlett, "as long as they don't make the dips too dippy."

Protestant ministers of every denomination in Cambridge met at the Y. M. C. A. and went on record as opposed to the tango, following the ban placed on the new dances by the Catholic clergy after a series of special sermons at St. Mary's Church.

"Yale men are too well bred to tango," asserted Dean F. S. Jones of the Yale academic department. He promises that Bostonians who attend the Yale Prom will not be offended by tangoers.

Pays $10,000 Fine in Silk Import Frauds

NEW YORK, Jan 23.—Abraham S. Rosenthal, a member of the silk importing firm of A. S. Rosenthal & Company, who was indicted in 1907 for customs frauds aggregating hundreds of thousands of dollars, and who has since resided in Japan, has pleaded guilty in the Federal Court and paid a fine of $10,000.

New Plate on Saint-Gaudens Replica

As the result of a protest made in 1913 by Mrs Augustus Saint-Gaudens, widow of the sculptor, a new plate has been attached to the Saint-Gaudens statue of Lincoln in the reading room of the Chicago Association of Commerce. The new plate was sent by the Chicago Association of Commerce here, the donors of the replica.

LISTEN MOTHER DO BE CAREFUL

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy. Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse with contempt any other fig syrup.

This Lung Remedy Known Fifteen Years

If everybody who suffers from or is threatened with Lung Trouble would investigate the many cases where recoveries were brought about through the use of Eckman's Alterative, a remedy which has stood the test for nearly fifteen years, a strong opinion in favor of it would be the result. What it has accomplished for others it may do for you. Send this—

145 D 1223 St., New York.

"Gentlemen: Last December I took a sudden cold which developed into Pneumonia. The doctor did all he possibly could for me, but I could not clear up loose. One day I saw a testimonial in one of the papers telling of the good results someone had from taking Eckman's Alterative for a trouble of the lungs. I began taking it and soon felt good results. My lungs began to clear up and I began to gain in strength and was well enough to take up my work again. I am in better health now than I have been at any time. I am a missionary worker for the New York Home for Homeless and Friendless Boys."

Eckman's Alterative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stubborn Colds, and in upbuilding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Sold by leading druggists. Write the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries and additional evidence.

ADELINE GENEE, the famous dancer, who thinks she is old at thirty-six and is going to quit.

"Put down seventeen, Clarisse."
"Well?"
"And twelve."
"All right."
"And seven."
"Well?"
"Add them."
"They make thirty-six."

No, this isn't any contest in market fluctuations. It is merely the material route taken today by a couple of stage girls who wanted to know how old Adeline Genee is, now that she has announced that she intended to quit the stage dancing business because "I do not wish to wait, until it is inevitable."

Looking over the record, they found that Miss Genee, who was born in Copenhagen, made her debut when she was seventeen and had danced for twelve years, when, in a burst of confidence seven years ago, she gave the vital statistics to an admiring writer. So the girls were merely adding the score to see how old a famous dancer was who thought it time to quit.

"That's not old enough to make her quit," said one of the girls. "I know a dancer in this here town who has a daughter almost that old."

CHELSEA GIRL SENT HOME BY JUDGE'S FUND

Miss Mary Hamel, who pleaded guilty in the Superior Court at Worcester, to a charge of misconduct, is now at her sister's home in Chelsea, where she was sent on a fund raised by Judge Hugo A. Dubuque, who released the girl following her plea.

When Miss Hamel was called upon to plead to the charge, her counsel informed the court that her sister was in the courtroom and desired to be heard in an appeal for a chance to take her sister home with her.

"If I release your sister, will you go right back home?" asked the court.

"I'll have to ask you to give me time to write to my husband to send me money," said the sister. "Just give me that much time and then we'll go."

"Well, I suppose we could let this go over to Monday," said Judge Dubuque, "but I don't know as we want to keep this poor girl in detention over Sunday. There seems to be a chance for her to reform. We might take up a little subscription to help these two ladies out. The court will give $1 and perhaps others here will make up enough more to take the two women back to Chelsea." The fund was completed in a few minutes and the two women started for Chelsea.

Three Women Hurt in Derby, Ct., Fire

DERBY, Ct., Jan. 23.—Three women went to the hospital after an apartment house fire. Mrs. Harriet Minnergy dropped her granddaughter, Emma Rath, from a third story window into a blanket held by volunteers. The blanket gave way and Miss Rath was hurt. Her grandmother was carried out unconscious from smoke. Edith Spero was dropped from a second story window to a blanket, and suffered a broken leg.

Son Finds Mother Burned to Death

Mrs. Catherine Rooney, fifty-six, was burned to death in the cellar of her home at No. 20 Bates avenue, West Quincy. It is believed that her clothes caught while she was attending to a furnace fire. Her charred body was found by her son, Joseph Rooney, when he returned from work.

Harvard Freshmen's Lunch Time Longer

President Lowell plans to eliminate all 12 o'clock recitations and lectures for the freshmen in college, in order that all academic work for the lower classmen will end promptly at noon. That will allow the new students an hour and a half for eating lunch, since the college exercises do not begin until 1.30 in the afternoon.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

DRUG USERS IN EXCLUSIVE BACK BAY, SAYS CHASE

J. Frank Chase, secretary of the Watch and Ward Society, which is waging a relentless campaign against the illegal sale of drugs, declared that the "dope" habit is prevalent in the exclusive districts of the Back Bay as well as the poorer quarters of the city.

The proprietors of two South End drug stores and two drug clerks had just been arraigned in the Municipal Court, charged with unlawfully delivering cocaine and heroin, and their cases continued until February 4, when he told of the progress being made in the crusade.

"This system of dope dispensing is one of the greatest curses to modern civilization," he said. "It is allied with the white slave traffic and is utilized very generally to the advantage of the white slaver.

"Whereas, under the old conditions the white slaver used to get the victim intoxicated and then accomplish his purpose of leading her into dens, these men have improved upon their methods through the use of dope.

"We will allow that the young woman is not one who would accept a drink of liquor. The 'shaver,' learning that she has a toothache, earache or any other ache or pain offers her a powder which will relieve the pain. It accomplishes that object, but at the same time so dulls her mental faculties that she is no longer responsible for herself. She soon becomes a victim to the drug and a slave to the one who has enchained her.

"The druggists who sell the dope unlawfully are the ones we aim to reach. Since the law was passed restricting the sale of the several drugs they have been so cautious that it has been almost impossible to get evidence against them. The druggist has his regular customers who come from day to day to purchase the drug. These purchasers are not only users but peddlers of the drug.

"The druggist knows they dare not report him less their supply be cut off. They in turn know that they possess a source of revenue and a means of making an easy living. They become so businesslike in their methods that they not only sell to drug users but do what they can to create new victims so as to increase their sales. It is remarkable how quickly the new victim becomes a fiend at the use of the drug."

Frank J. McGarry, proprietor of the Frank J. McGarry drug store at the corner of Merwick Park and Columbus avenue, is charged with unlawfully delivering heroin to Columbus Murray on January 5. Ernest McGarry, a clerk in the same store, is charged with similar offences with Samuel Donovan on January 2, and Joseph Mazzeo on January 5. George Green, another clerk in the store, has several counts against him.

Big Salaries Paid to Telephone Heads

Praise Lewis for Wire Control Fight

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Resolutions of thanks and indorsement for the fight he is making for government ownership of telephones and telegraph service were received today by Representative Lewis of Maryland, from the Pomona Grange of New London County, Ct. Similar proofs of sentiment among the farmers on this question have been sent to other members of Congress. The same forces which united to force the parcel post bill through Congress are getting together, in Lewis' opinion, to obtain the postalization of the wires.

Mrs. McCormick Sorry for Break

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 23.—Grieved over the independent policy shown by the Congressional Union for Equal Suffrage, Mrs. Medill McCormick today resumed charge here of the congressional committee of the National Woman Suffrage Association. "I am sorry the congressional union has split with us," she said, "for the members were doing good work for the suffrage cause. Of course, there is no personal feeling in the matter."

Barre, Vt., City Hall $20,000 Fire Burns

BARRE, Vt., Jan. 23.—Fire which broke out early today in the City Hotel, completely destroyed the structure, causing a loss of $20,000. There were but six guests in the house at the time. These fled in their night attire to the street in a temperature of sixteen degrees below zero.

Wilson on Stock Exchanges.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—President Wilson told callers that he will not recommend in his message anything not in the Democratic platform, and added that he had not found the subject of regulation of Stock Exchanges in the platform.

CALL CONCORD REFORMATORY CRIME SCHOOL

WORCESTER, Jan. 23.—The charge was made and largely substantiated that the Concord Reformatory is a veritable school of crime, at the trial in Superior Criminal Court, of Kenneth Duncan and Lee Landry, charged with nine burglaries.

Judge Dubuque, before sentencing Duncan asked him if he had anything to say.

"I don't ask for mercy," replied Duncan. "but I do ask you not to send me back to Concord. I learned all that I know about crime there. I was a bad boy, but not very bad, and I was sent to Concord for about the first thing I ever did. I did not know really anything about crime until I went there, but when I came out I understood it all. I had learned. Concord is responsible for the record I have against me today. I expect to be punished, but I want you to know what Concord has done for me."

District Attorney James A. Stiles said: "As nearly as I can learn from these and other fellows—and I guess perhaps the information is correct—the gang that has been doing these breaks all over the State planned them while they were together in Concord."

Judge Dubuque imposed sentences of not less than three nor more than five years in State Prison at Charlestown on each of the young men.

Cambridge Tie-Up by Bridge Blaze

The fires on the West Boston bridge cohort-circuited early today to the tune o a blaze that tied up traffic for over half an hour and gave thousands of commuters from Cambridge a long delay in getting to work.

The fire put the signal system out of commission, and men were stationed along the track with lanterns to signal the cars when traffic was resumed. The fire was underneath the tracks and was at length extinguished by employes of the road.

Report Goethals Has Accepted Police Job

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—The Evening Journal says today:

"On the highest authority, the Evening Journal learned today that positive assurance is now in the possession of Mayor John Purroy Mitchel that Colonel George W. Goethals, chief engineer of the Panama Canal, has consented to become police commissioner of New York.

"It is further understood he will take charge of the police department with these positive assurances:

"That no one is permitted to hamper him in his plans for re-organization of the department.

"That he shall have absolute say in making appointments, promoting such men as he deems worthy of promotion and demoting those officers whom he may not consider fitted for the places they hold."

Arrest Strikers on Liner Devonian

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 23.—Eighteen firemen on the Leyland liner Devonian, bound from Liverpool to Boston, went on strike today and were landed at Holyhead, where they were put under arrest. The company announced that the men had refused to work because of a dispute over the union, and that all will be prosecuted.

Old-Time Cold Cure—Drink Tea

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

LA PORTE, Ind., Jan. 23.—George Ade, playwright and author, is being urged to enter the race for Senator B. F. Shively's seat. Ade is a Progressive. Indiana next year will use the primary system in naming Shively's successor.

IF YOU ARE NERVOUS

or worried or vexed at trifles, your vital forces are slowly but surely deteriorating.

Scott's Emulsion overcomes nervousness better than anything else because its nourishing force enriches the blood and stimulates its flow to all the tissues and bathes the tiny nerve cells in the rich plasma by which they are nourished.

Shun alcoholic substitutes that stimulate and stupefy. Take Scott's Emulsion for your nerves. Its nutritive power is the greatest help that nature affords.

More Than SIX HUNDRED Illustrations

INCLUDING RARE AND BEAUTIFUL WATER COLOR STUDIES

Interwoven with the beautiful word pictures in this large volume are hundreds of photographic reproductions, accurately portraying the scenes described in the text. Many of these pictures represent scenes far removed from the path of the ordinary tourist—views of the jungle—of the almost uncivilized natives who reside within call of the Zone, but who are quite unknown outside of their own little world. Such pictures are rare and are to be found only in this volume. Beautiful large colored plates abound throughout the book. These are reproduced in splendid full pages from water color studies, and represent the work of months spent in the study of Canal scenes. No book of similar character contains such a wealth of magnificent color.

It was reported today that the bout of feeling does not exist between the B. A. A. and the Irish American Club. It was stated that the leaders of the two organizations are not in harmony and that this is the real reason why none of the B. A. A. men will show in the Irish American meet.

The Irish American club attempted to arrange a match race between Tom Halpin, the B. A. A. track captain, and Ted Meredith, the University of Pennsylvania runner who was one of the heroes of the 1912 Olympic games. Meredith, however, was unable to accept the invitation to compete here on account of being ineligible to run in Pittsburgh for his college team on the night of the Irish American games. So Halpin has entered the Buffalo meet.

THE AMERICAN'S MAGAZINE PAGE

William F. Kirk Tells About:

Little Bobbie's Pa

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

My teecher gave each of us a sub-jeck to rite about for a essay & I brought my subjeck home to show Pa & Ma last nite. The subjeck of my subjeck was The Greatest Hero in History. I was going to rite it about Leoni-das, the Spartan feller wich held a pass against a whole army with only a few men behind him & died with his boots on.

No, my deer boy, sed Pa, not Leonidas. Leonidas was a single man. He wasent married.

What differents does that make? I asked Pa.

A lot of differents, Pa sed to me. I think if he had been a married man he mite have been the greatest hero in history, but reemember, Bobbie, sed Pa, a brav married man is brav-er than a brav single man. He is more of a hero, sed Pa.

Then how about Horatius at the Bridge? I asked Pa. He wasent married, either, sed Pa, & I guess, history doesent say anything about him being a married man. Won jeu stop to think, Bobbie, that almost any married man is a hero, you still understand what I meen wen I want you to pick a married man for the subjeck of this essay.

So I went & rote the essay about George Washington. I red in the essay that Washington was the greatest hero of all time because he fought against over-whelming odds, wen his soljers dident have enuff to eat & any times to ware on their feet at Valley Forge. I told how Washington was planned against & skemed against rite in his own country as well as by his foes, & how one of his bravest generals turned traitor & nearly broak Washington's hart. I told how Washington made a grate republic & then refused to be a king. I thought it was pritty good essay, & I had a littel poem in it, too, wich I made up myself. It sed:

The greatest and the bravest one
That ever lived & died
Was General George Washington.
He is our Nashun's pride.
He fought the English long & well
& won a glorus fite;
In all our hearts his naim does dwell
Which is no mear tinn nite.

I think that is a very good essay, Bobbie, sed Ma, wen I had red it to Pa & her.

I doant think I cod have did much better myself, sed Pa, as far as riteing the essay is concerned, but it seems to me that Bobbie made a mistaik in calling Washington the greatest hero of all time.

But Washington was a married man, I told Pa.

Yes, sed Pa, but he only had one wife. I think a reely grate hero, sed Pa, was sum man like King David or King Solomon, wich had about a thousand wives apeece. Think of what a sublime courage it takes to walk up the aisle to the altar a thousand times & say "I Do" till you git a soar throte. That is what I call a reel hero, Pa sed.

Doant mind any of yure father's foolish talk, Bobbie, sed Ma. I will bet yure teacher gives you the first prize for yure essay.

A Sudden Infliction

Professor Doubleload, absorbed in a book, was walking down the main street with one foot in the gutter and one on the pavement.

A little way down the road he was clapped on the back by the local doctor, who said:

"Well, professor, and how are we today?"

The sage thought for a moment. "To tell you the truth, doctor," he said, "I was perfectly well when I got up this morning, or I thought I was. But, do you know, it's really very mysterious, but a most extraordinary limp has come over me since I left the house! Must be the cold, I suppose!"

Daysey Mayme and Her Folks

Hospitality is only another name for lonesomeness.

The woman who has to walk five miles to her nearest neighbor to borrow a flatiron, has her kitchen stirring always out, and it is decorated with fried chicken and fish biscuits.

But the woman who is surrounded and besieged and mobbed by friends all the time, ten deep, is never lonesome. No, she is overcharged with hospitality. Neither is a man at whose home there are always guests.

There are always guests at the house of Lysander John Appleton, guests of that sex and age who make their presence known by pools of face powder in the bathroom, by a sink covered with pans in which fudge was made, and by sounds of so-called laughter heard all over the house.

Lysander John protested. He protested in vain seemingly, and it was not until the last guest had gone that Daysey Mayme explained.

"I have been providing," she said, "for my board and keep in my old age," and she showed her father contracts signed by all her guests.

The visitor at the Appleton home was shown every form of hospitality of which indigestion is heir. She was lunched and dined and soda-fountained. She was given such a good time that she went home a nervous and physical wreck.

Before she went she signed a contract which provides that the next "The party of the second part, shall keep accurate account of the time spent at the house of the party of the first part, and the expense attached thereto, and hereby agree that said obligation to party of the first part shall never be cancelled till party of the first part shall visit party of the second part, remaining as long as did party of the second part.

"Furthermore, it is stipulated that interest shall accrue from date of expiration of stay of party of the second part with party of the first part, thus giving to party of the first part enough accrued time to amount to her keep in her old age."

"And the party of the first part," said this first person in history to solve the guest problem, "is I."

All Home Comforts

The central prison at Cettinje, the capital of Montenegro, is probably the most easy-going in the world. No walls surround it, and the inmates furnish their own cells just as they please, and seem to stay there only because they find their quarters comfortable.

The diet is liberal, with wine on occasions, and always cigarettes. There is no work to do, and no distinctive garb is worn, and comparatively free intercourse is allowed with the outside world.

On certain feast days, indeed, the prisoners are even allowed to entertain friends.

WHEN a girl is engaged—oh, red stars—and green! And stars of gold and blue! What is the world? Just a small round globe just big enough to hold her small and blissful body—so large has her heart grown under the calico or satin of her gown! Up on the world she crouches—exulting—seeing to the highest places where the blue sky ends and the walls of Paradise rise—seeing to the profoundest depths where the spaces end again and fairyland lifts its crystal and sapphire spires. And up she holds her thrilling little third finger for all the world to see. And under the glitter of her diamond the stars pale and wink, and at last shut their lamp-like eyes! "What are the stars but the millions of flakes of light that wheel out from the ring upon my finger? What is the music of the Spheres but the sound of my own heart? What is the great Milky Way but the path of dreams for me? And what is the world but the spot in all the spaces where I may sing and laugh and love? What is my heart but the engine that, throbbing, sends the great star-spaces whirling and keeps this tiny ball spinning? Star-drift and suns and all you great soft planets listen and look—for I am engaged! And, oh, may I stick on fast to this little flying world—for so great my heart is and so big have I become that I'm afraid I may go hurtling off into the blue. I'm engaged!"

The True Story of Boston's Little Lost Sister Who Found Herself

By JANET WRIGHT

CHAPTER XVII.
Continued

This serial is written in the form of the life story of a country girl who fall victim to conditions in Boston. The scenes used are all definite, for no character appears in the serial that is not taken from real life. No important incident occurs which has not actually happened in Boston within the years, and the conditions portrayed are intentional, rather than exaggerated.

The serial is offered as a picture of the lives of Boston's Little Lost Sisters. It is designed to shed some light on causes underlying the terrible conditions of the city, and it is hoped some action as to cure is suggested.

The three cents which the serial is issued were given to the AMERICAN by one of Boston's best informed social workers, who begins for every additional cent given to the fund of the series of JANET WRIGHT stories of the Little Lost Sister who found herself—and is lost to herself.

This is the continued story of a girl who left her home in a small town, full of ambition to make her way in the world. She went to Boston, and there fell into the hands of a woman who runs a disreputable house. The girl, Lucille, is in the dressing room of this woman's house, and is talking to another girl, Lita, who has been in the house for some time.

Lucille had come to Lita's room to ask her advice about a dress. Lita had been very kind to her, and Lucille had confided in her. Lita had told her that she was in the house only because she had to have money to support her mother and sister, and that she hated the life. She had urged Lucille to leave the house, and Lucille had promised to do so.

Lucille had been in the house only a few days, and had not met any of the men who frequented it. She had refused to see them, and had been left alone by the other girls, who had accepted her refusal to see men as a whim.

Lita had told Lucille that she was to meet a man that night, and Lucille had asked her to tell him that she could not see him. Lita had refused to do this, and had said that Lucille must tell him herself.

Lucille had gone to her own room, and had begun to dress for dinner. She was thinking of what Lita had said, when there was a knock at the door, and Lita entered.

Lita asked Lucille to tell all that happened at that scene. She came in and sat down on the bed. Lucille told her how she had refused to see the man, and how angry he had been. Lita asked her what he had said, and Lucille told her that he had said that he would make her sorry for refusing to see him.

Lita said that Lucille must not refuse to see the man, and that she must not make him angry. She said that he was a very rich man, and that he would be very generous to Lucille if she would be nice to him. Lucille refused to do this, and Lita left the room.

Lucille finished dressing, and went down to the dining room. She found the man there, and he was very angry with her. He said that he had paid a large sum of money to the house for the privilege of seeing her, and that he would not be cheated out of it. He said that he would see her in the parlor after dinner, and that she must be nice to him.

Lucille went into the parlor after dinner, and found the man there. He was drunk, and he tried to kiss her. She struggled with him, and he struck her. She ran out of the room, and went to her own room. She was afraid to stay in the house any longer, and she decided to run away.

She packed a few things in a bag, and left the house. She walked to the railroad station, and bought a ticket to Boston. She got on the train, and sat down in a seat. A man sat down beside her, and began to talk to her. He asked her where she was going, and she told him that she was going to Boston to look for work. He said that he was going to Boston, and that he would be glad to help her find work.

Lucille thanked him, and said that she would be glad to have his help. She told him that she had no money, and that she would have to get work at once. He said that he knew of a place where she could get work, and that he would take her there.

Lucille went to Boston with the man, and he took her to a house in the South End. He told her that she could get work there, and left her. She went into the house, and found that it was a boarding house. She asked the woman in charge if she could get work there, and the woman said that she could.

Lucille went to her room, and began to look for work. She found that it was very hard to get work, and that she was very lonely. She had no friends in Boston, and she was afraid to go out alone at night.

One day she met a girl named Lena Brittendorp, who was also looking for work. Lena told her that she knew of a place where she could get work, and Lucille went there with her. The place was a department store, and Lucille got work there as a saleswoman.

Lucille and Lena became friends, and Lucille went to live with Lena's family. Lena's father was a tailor, and he had a shop in the basement of his house. Lucille went to live with the Brittendorps, and she found that they were very kind to her.

Lucille worked in the department store for several months, and she was very happy. She had many friends, and she was getting on well in her work. She was also saving money, and she hoped that she would soon be able to go to night school.

One day Lena told Lucille that she was going to be married, and that she would have to leave her father's house. Lucille was very sorry to hear this, as she knew that she would have to leave also. She asked Lena who she was going to marry, and Lena told her that she was going to marry a man named Harper.

Lucille asked Lena if she loved Harper, and Lena said that she did not love him very much, but that he was very rich, and that she could not afford to refuse him. Lucille said that she thought Lena ought to marry for love, and Lena said that she would not be happy if she married a poor man.

Lucille asked Lena if she had told her father that she was going to leave him, and Lena said that she had told him that morning. She said that he was very angry, and that he had said that he would not allow her to leave him.

Lucille went to her room, and began to sew. She was thinking of what Lena had said, when there was a knock at the door, and Lena entered. She said that she had come to tell Lucille what had happened when she told her father that she was going to leave him.

Lena said that her father had been very angry, and that he had said that he would not allow her to leave him. He said that he would not let her marry Harper, and that he would not let her leave the house.

Lena said that she had told her father that she was going to marry Harper, and that she would leave the house whether he liked it or not. She said that her father had then said that he would not let her leave the house, and that he would lock her in her room if she tried to leave.

Lena said that she had then told her father that she would climb out of the window if he locked her in her room, and that she would go to Harper's house

BANK ACCOUNT HAS NO EFFECT ON HAPPINESS

By B. C. FORBES, Business Editor.

A human being's capacity for happiness is not regulated by the size of his bank account.

* * *

One of the poorest specimens of humanity I ever met is a Carnegie millionaire. This incident will picture him to you: He was in a restaurant with a number of cronies and pulled out a huge roll of $100, $500 and $1,000 bills when the check was presented. As he tossed a bill to the waiter he noticed one sticking out. Running his fingers through the roll, he came upon a $10 bill.

"What the —— do you want among decent money?" he fumed, and, snatching it, he pitched it on the floor and ground it under his heel. At one time, when this same boor was an obscure clerk in a store, a $10 bill would have looked very attractive to him. His pocketbook had grown, but not his mentality.

* * *

Could you conjure up a more despicable exhibition?

* * *

And still some people wonder why Socialism is increasing and why the people manifest so little respect for many of our millionaires!

* * *

That Pittsburgh plutocrat's capacity for happiness is about as big as the cavity in a hen's tooth.

* * *

Now, my blacksmith friend is not versed in book learning. He probably never heard of Aristotle or Socrates. And I know his knowledge of history is slender. His spelling would not cover him with honors in a competition, and he seldom can muster enough courage to write a letter—I'd sooner shoe a dozen horses than write one. He told me when I wanted him to correspond with me.

* * *

How, then, is he cultured, knowing nothing of books?

* * *

His culture is home-grown, a na-

HEART INTEREST PANAMA STORIES

The New Illustrated Book Which Is Both Entertaining and Educational.

* * *

Of course you would like to take a trip to Panama and see the mighty wonders of the great Canal, but it would require much time and money. The AMERICAN offers a better way to make the trip. Clip the Panama certificate printed elsewhere in this issue and learn how you may come into immediate possession of "Panama and the Canal in Picture and Prose," a book that not only tells the complete story of the Canal, but also sets forth a wealth of interesting stories concerning the country and the people.

Practically all of the information you would get by taking a trip to Panama would be yours, and you would get through the sense of seeing. This new illustrated book introduces scenes far removed from the usual path of the tourist. It tells you of the queer natives that exist largely of the dress and customs of the inhabitants of the Zone; of the peculiar flowers of the jungle; of the fortifications, taxes, commerce, diplomacy and politics of the Canal district.

This book is magnificently illustrated with more than six hundred rare pictures, many in beautiful colors and reproduced in full page. The pictures themselves are equal to a trip to Panama. They gladden the eye and enrich the mind.

THE AMERICAN wants every one of its readers to have a copy of this beautiful new illustrated book, and with that end in view a certificate is printed daily in these columns, six of which enable the bearer to get it when accompanied by the small expense amount, which covers the actual cost of the various expense items of distribution. Look for the certificate and clip it today.

THE INCOME TAX

Are You Puzzled?

tive product. It has been drawn from the soil, the brook, the animals, the trees, the birds and human nature.

* * *

For example, every refractory young horse is sent to him by farmers and others to be tamed. He can transform a vicious, impossible, nervous animal into a docile, dependable one in a few weeks. His power lies in understanding the horse, its ways and its mind. He can explain WHY an animal acts as it does. He can see things, as it were, through the animal's eyes and can divine the effect upon it of any and every happening. He never blames the horse for anything; he can always supply a reason why it does a thing.

* * *

And so with other living things that come under his hand. I went angling with him one day. Until then I did not know that trout had half the "gumption" he attributed to them—and proved they possessed. Although he had never read a line of old Izaak Walton, he could dilate upon worms and how to use them with all the skill of the complete angler.

* * *

He could apply his home-brewed knowledge to every circumstance. Let me relate one incident. A funeral was being held out on a farm, everybody was having difficulty in keeping his tall hat on—everybody save the driver of the hearse. He sat serene, though more exposed to the wind than any of them. The man began to observe the phenomenon. What could be the reason for the driver's immunity from trouble with his badged hat? Nobody could hazard a guess until the blacksmith was appealed to. Refusing to mind his process for "ringing cart wheels"—putting an iron rim at white heat and then causing it to shrink by pouring on cold water and thus wedging the spokes tightly, he replied: "Maybe he heated her (the hat) before he put her on." And there was logic in the statement.

* * *

One of America's most prominent bankers said to me the other day: "There's not much satisfaction in this"—waving a handful of checks. "Do you know, I mean to quit soon. What is there in it for me? I scarcely know my own children—I have —— lovely ones. There are other things in life more worth while than checks and straightening out people's people's business troubles. The people will no doubt think when I retire, and will probably hint all sorts of reasons except the right one, which I am now telling you. I have got there. I don't need to be a slave to business any longer. Don't you think I am wise to get ready to draw out soon? Carnegie was wise. So was Rockefeller. So was Stillman, J. Pierpont Morgan was not."

* * *

Americans, I think, are beginning to appraise life's values more sensibly. More praiseworthy movements are arising. Earnest thought at no moment than ever before.

* * *

Is not this a symptom of culture? And is it not a higher quality than to be insatiable, relentless, often lawless money making that was America's god a few years ago?

LATEST STOCK MARKETS

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor

Stocks were irregular this afternoon, but declines were slight in most cases and, in view of the extent of profit taking, the market tone was surprisingly steady. In New York Canadian Pacific was off 2¾, and Amalgamated, which sold ex-dividend $4.50, 1¾, while Southern Pacific, Missouri Pacific, New Haven, American Smelting, Union Pacific, Steel, American Can and Chesapeake & Ohio were lower by small fractions. Among gains were Reading ½, Lehigh Valley ½, American Telephone ½, Peoples' Gas ¼, and Baltimore & Ohio.

In Boston, East Boston Land and Boston Elevated were holding early advances and among mines to show losses were Calumet & Arizona ¾, and Granby ¾. Butte & Superior and North Butte were fractionally better, as were Greene-Cananea, Boston & Maine was off a point and New Haven ½.

HEAVY SALES AT START.

There was heavy selling when the New York market opened, which some traders thought indicated a desire by large interests to check the rise. It was noted as significant of outsiders' feeling. In spite of realisation transactions the undertone was remarkably firm and the market of outsiders more bullish than ever. Prices were irregular at the opening and continued so, but the big reaction expected by bears was not forthcoming. Realizing and selling continued to characterize trading and the volume of first hour business was large, the transactions totalling almost 200,000. It diminished in the second and price movements averaged narrower. Leaders were subject to sharp drives, but had good support upon declines. Call money loaned at 1¼ per cent. and time funds unchanged easy. The pace of the recent rise was believed by many market followers to justify a reaction and it was this apprehension which curbed bulls to some extent today. They are of the opinion that any recessional movements will be brief and followed by another uplift.

PARISIANS BUYING STOCKS.

Irregularity of American stocks in London was said to be due to profit-taking. Canadian Pacific was weak there, but most of the selling was said to be on Continental orders.

One of the most satisfactory reports from Europe is that there is a bull movement on the Paris Bourse. The Parisian financial correspondent for dearest newspapers cabled: "The bull movement on the Paris Bourse, the public after so many months of abstention made a great impression in speculative circles.

"All the professionals have been bears for months and their covering now affords good support to the market. Much importance is also attached to the satisfactory news from foreign markets.

"The London and Berlin bank rate reduction and the prospects of another next week by a reduction here."

The announcement of the administration's anti-trust programme did not have the market influence which seemed hoped. As a matter of fact, the presidential recommendations are to be considered severe, they were counterbalanced by the announcement that Mr. Wilson does not propose to suggest stock exchange regulations.

STEEL EARNINGS.

Steel was closely watched and a field for large transactions. In the second hour, after losing a fraction, it advanced to 64¾, a shade higher than yesterday. It is asserted that with prices for products as low as they have been of late, the Steel Corporation's earnings for the first quarter cannot be more than $20,000,000, and that it will show a large deficit on business for that period. But, as the News bureau remarks: "It is through small charges for depreciation in periods of depression that United States steel in the past has been able to report a surplus when a deficit appeared almost certain."

By midday in New York prices were mixed and changes as a whole small. But Consolidated Gas was an exception, having advanced 1¾.

The Boston market was opened and had been active, with a point and half rise in Boston Elevated and one of three by East Boston Land, the most noticeable features. Ojibway, which sold at 5 cents yesterday, sold yesterday at 28 cents a share, rose to 42 early today. Coppers as a class were not so encouraging in this market today as yesterday.

COTTON GINNING.

The Census Bureau has just issued a report showing that 18,589,171 bales, counting round as half bales, ginned from the cotton growth of 1913 to January 15, compared with 12,088,830 for 1912 and 14,818,799 for 1911. Round bales included this year are 37,834, compared with 44,690 for 1912, and 37,654 for 1911. Sea Island included, 76,152 for 1913, 78,758 for 1912, and 109,567 for 1911.

FINANCIAL NEWS IN BRIEF.

The London copper warrants market was firm this morning, spot being up 5s. 9d. and futures 10s. at noon. At the close it was easier in tone, spot being off 2s. 9d. and futures 5s.

The American Sugar Refining Company has disposed of its holdings in six beet sugar companies within four years, and its present possessions of that kind have a par value of $24,125,700. It is out of the American Beet Sugar and Western Sugar Refinery corporations, it is stated by Edwin F. Atkins.

For the week ended yesterday copper exports totalled 3,822 tons.

The fortnightly bulletin of the American Railway Association states that the net surplus of idle freight cars on the lines of the United States and Canada on January 15 was 214,040, compared with 193,899 on January 1, an increase of 20,629 cars.

CONGRESS WILL PASS ALL BIG BUSINESS BILLS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Senate and House leaders today pledged themselves to push to as early a conclusion as possible the anti-trust legislation desired by President Wilson. They declare that the opposition threatened when the President made known his program is rapidly disappearing and predict that his ideas on "Big business" will be enacted into law more quickly than were his currency and tariff plans, and by even greater majorities.

With four of the "Five brothers" bills drafted and ready for consideration, the legislative wheels were greased today for prompt action. The only delay in the Senate was caused by consideration of the Alaska bill. It is expected that before adjournment this bill will be passed and the bill for "Interstate trade commission" introduced.

The latest three bills framed embrace the following subjects:

Prohibition of interlocking directorates of industrial corporations, railroads, banking or trust companies, to be effective two years after passage.

Definition of the terms of the Sherman anti-trust act, to include specifically within the meaning of "conspiracy in restraint of trade," every contract, combination in the form of a trust, or otherwise, within the meaning of the word "monopolize," and confining offenses, all of which would be prohibited and fixing guilt upon individuals.

Lyman School for Leader of Gang

GLOUCESTER, Jan. 23.—Charles F. McNeil, sixteen, cofeneased leader of a gang of "boy burglars" who have robbed thirty-five or forty Summer cottages here including that of former Governor Bates, was to be sent to the Lyman School. He was in court today with Thomas Warner and Thomas Walsh, and all three were held for a hearing next Tuesday. McNeil was paroled from the Lyman School some time ago.

BOSTON AMERICAN
39 AND 43 SUMMER ST., BOSTON, JANUARY 23, 1914.

The Governor's Council Signs Its Own Death Warrant

There never has been much excuse for the Governor's Council. There is less excuse for it today than ever before, because the Council has decided that its work can better be performed in SECRET than in PUBLIC sessions.

The AMERICAN begs leave to differ with the gentlemen who voted for secret sessions. This newspaper has always believed that the public has a right to know what its servants are doing, and the only way the public can know this is to hold all sessions of public commissions and boards OPEN TO THE PUBLIC.

The gentlemen who oppose publicity in the Governor's Council are undoubtedly well-meaning, but by voting to sit in secret hereafter they have actually signed the death warrant of the Council. At best it has been a mysterious body. The public knows little or nothing about how it came into existence, or what functions or powers it possesses.

The policy of secrecy was broken when the AMERICAN exposed some of the things that the Council had done under the Foss administration.

This is the day of publicity—not of secrecy—and the more publicity the better for everybody concerned.

Of course, what the Council actually does will be made public sooner or later, even if the Council conducts its sessions in secret. Everybody will be watching the Council. Many persons will misconstrue legitimate action by the Council. Many wrongs may be allowed to grow up that would not be tolerated if the public knew in advance what the Council is to do.

One of the members who opposed publicity and led in advocacy of the policy of secrecy really touched the keynote of it all when he said:

> "Everyone is human and it is universally recognized that men are affected in their public utterances when they realize their remarks are subject to publication."

If that be true, LESS SECRECY AND MORE PUBLICITY is absolutely necessary. When the Council voted for open sessions it was because some of the members were convinced that the public was not being served properly and that some wrongs were being permitted to exist. Only one example need be cited —THE NOTORIOUS SHEA CASE.

The Mayor-Elect's Plan for an Advisory Council Appears on Its Face to Be a Good One

The proposal of Mayor-elect Curley to appoint an Advisory Council, to be selected somewhat after the manner in which the Finance Commission was chosen, appears on its face to be a very good plan. If Mr. Curley is in earnest and carries out the idea in the spirit in which it seems to be proposed, it ought to help him greatly in his task of administering the affairs of Boston and it ought to be a considerable boon to the city.

If what he calls the "City Planning Board" is to have any real and important duties and is to be heeded in its advice concerning matters within its purview, it will be an experiment well worth trying and might become an indispensable municipal institution. Men whose time is important might be willing to act in a kind of cabinet where they could have a semi-official responsibility, without undertaking the hazards and the nuisance of a rough and tumble city election contest.

But such a body could not take the place of the Mayor and Boston would still be entitled to his whole attention. Mr. Curley would do well to abandon all idea of attempting to serve the national government in Washington and the city government in Boston at the same time. If he wishes to be taken seriously he must show that he regards his new duties as serious duties by undertaking to give all his time to them.

Why Women Should Vote

Not to Help Women, but to Help MEN. Women Will Improve All Governments, Nullify the Bad Men, Multiply the Good Men by Two

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, one of the foremost advocates of women suffrage in the country, will speak at Tremont Temple tomorrow night.

GO AND HEAR HER.

Whether you believe in female suffrage or not, whether you WANT to see women vote or not, make up your mind to this:

Women are going to vote. They are going to have their say in the laws that rule them and their children. They are going to add morality, benevolence and kindness to man's governing selfishness, AND NOTHING WILL STOP IT.

There is a time for each important work. THIS IS THE TIME TO WORK AND GET THE VOTE FOR WOMEN.

Our purpose is to interest, first of all, the poorer women—women whose husbands or fathers earn two dollars a day, or five or ten dollars a day perhaps. They are the women that really pay the cost of government today.

Is not our government a trust government? Are not the real taxes in this country imposed BY THE TRUSTS.

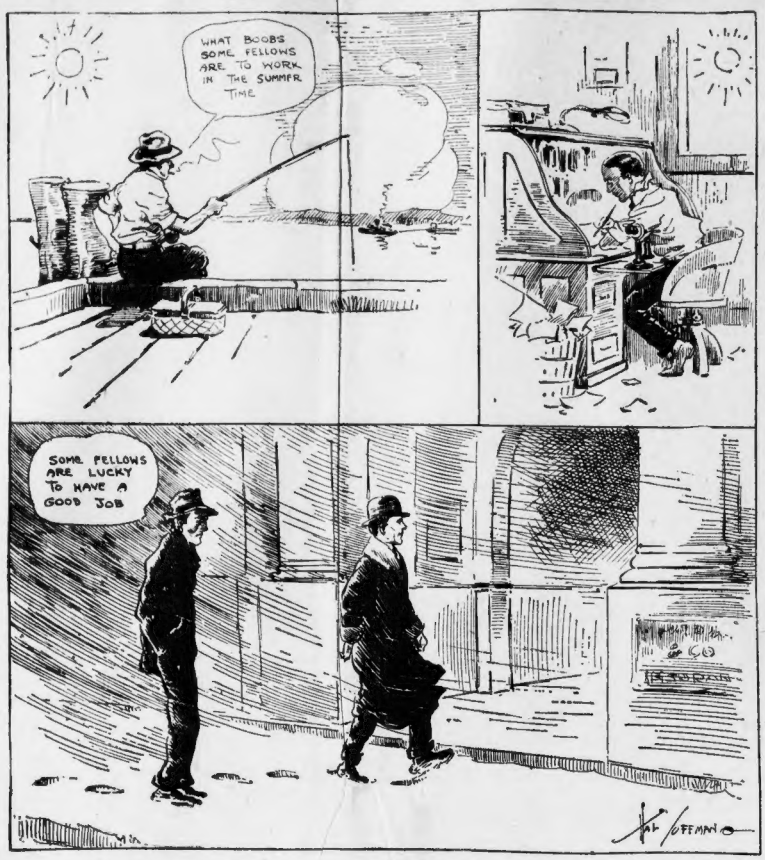
The man with a little house pays a little tax on that house. And he pays to the government a little tax on his tobacco or his beer, if he uses either, another little tax on his woolen suit. But the government doesn't get the REAL tax. That goes to the trusts. The real tax laid upon the people, WITHOUT REPRESENTATION IN THE TAXING BODY, is made by the trusts.

There is Mr. Rockefeller's tax from the Oil Trust. There is the tax from the Sugar Trust and the Meat Trust, and all the other trusts.

WHO PAYS THOSE TAXES? THE WOMEN PAY THEM. They spend the household money, and the trusts raise their incomes by taxes in the household.

The women of the poorer families, the wives of men with four or five hundred dollars a year, or of the lucky man with his three or four thousand dollars a year, THEY PAY THE COST OF OUR TRUST GOVERNMENT.

THE GRASSHOPPER AND THE ANT



The grasshopper, you know, sings all Summer while the ant toils away laying up a store for the Winter. When the cold pinches the grasshopper thinks the ant lucky to have plenty of provisions. But a man should know better than to think that it's luck that keeps one in a good job.

The Journey of Life—Every Woman Should Live Her Own Existence and Fill Her Own Sphere as Wisely as She Knows How

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

Copyright, 1914, by the Star Company

LIFE'S JOURNEY.

As we speed out of youth's sunny station
The track seems to shine in light,
But it suddenly shoots over chasms
Or sinks into tunnels of night.
And the hearts that were brave in morning
Are filled with repining and fears
As they pause at the City of Sorrow
Or pass through the Valley of Tears.

But the road of this perilous journey
The hand of the Master has made;
With all its discomforts and dangers,
We need not be sad or afraid.
Paths leading from light into darkness,
Ways plunging from gloom to despair,
Wind out through the tunnels of midnight
To fields that are blooming and fair.

Though the rocks and the shadows surround us,
Though we catch not one gleam of the day,
Above us fair cities are laughing,
And dipping white feet in some bay.
And always, eternal, forever,
Down over the hills in the West,
The last final end of our journey,
There lies the Great City of Rest.

'Tis the Grand Central point of all railways.
All roads unite here when they end;
'Tis the final resort of all tourists.
All rival lines meet here and blend.
All tickets, all mile-books, all passes,
If stolen or begged for or bought,
On whatever road or division,
Will bring you at last to this spot.

If you pause at the City of Trouble,
Or wait in the Valley of Tears,
Be patient, the train will move onward
And rush down the track of the years.
Whatever the place is you seek for,
Whatever your game or your quest,
You shall come at the last with rejoicing
To the beautiful City of Rest.

You shall store all your baggage of worries,
You shall feel perfect peace in this realm,
You shall sail with old friends on fair waters,
With joy and delight at the helm,
You shall wander in cool, fragrant gardens,
With those who have loved you the best,
And the hopes that were lost in life's journey
You shall find in the City of Rest.

A WOMAN writes: "I wonder so much if I am good enough to go to heaven when I pass out of this life. I so hope I am. The great longing of my heart here has been for a happy home life, but I have never had a real home. Fate has been rather unkind to me in that way."

If this woman is daily and hourly doing all she can to make every place a home, and to give the home spirit to each house she occupies; if she is making her own atmosphere homelike and sympathetic to every one who comes near her, then she may rest assured she will find a home such as she has longed for when she leaves the body; and that will be heaven.

Take the very good, simple, kindly farmer's wife, whose whole joy of life lies in preparing food for her household, and in attending the church, and in retiring early and rising betimes, and place her in the home of the Duchess of Marlborough, in London, and she would be very miserable indeed.

Her ideas of life and pleasure and duty are wholly different from those of the Duchess. Yet both are good women; both are filling their spheres here on earth as unselfishly and wisely as they know how, and both will unquestionably go to heaven when they pass on, but their heavens will be unsimilar.

The woman who longs for a home and for love as its keynote, if she has sent out love vibrations to all the world, and envied no woman who had more than she here, but rejoiced in all the blessings which have fallen to the share of others, she will surely find her mansion waiting. And she will enjoy it and the society of those she loves until it is time for her to pass on to other regions in the Worlds Beyond, and to reincarnate again and return to earth; where, no doubt, she will then be given the Home Life in a material form.

The "fate" which she says has been unkind to her was only her old self in past lives, where she failed to appreciate home life and domestic affection.

For as we sow we reap. Otherwise there would be no justice in the universe.

Holes in the Air Found by Aviators

By EDGAR LUCIEN LARKIN

Q.—"Will you please state your opinion as to the truth about air holes, as given by D. W. Starrett in Aircraft of February, 1912, and commented upon in the Literary Digest of February 17, 1912?"

A.—I have not read Mr. Starrett's article, but looked up the note in the Digest commenting thereon. The phrase "holes in the air" is entirely new and came with the advent of the great science of aviation. But the coining of this term has been unfortunate. It is totally impossible for a "hole" to exist in free air.

The only hole in air known is the high; vacuous space within a Crookes vacuum tube or bulb, or within similar glass bulbs, such as those enclosing carbon and tungsten filaments in electric incandescent lamps. And the height of human skill has been exerted to secure these vacuua, which is a "hole" surrounded by walls of glass.

The writer in the Digest is correct, for he makes it clear that what has been named "hole" is a place where the air and the airship are both moving in the same direction at the same speed. But an aeroplane must move to acquire any lifting or sustaining power whatever; that is, move through the air, not with it. If wind blows against the lower surfaces of the planes the lifting force per square foot depends on the velocity of the air. If air is at rest, then lifting force against gravitation depends on the speed of the airship. But if air and ship are both moving in the same direction with identical speed, then the ship must fall.

Early flyers in ships heavier than air naturally thought that they had fallen into a hole or a well. But there is just as much air under the planes as elsewhere.

In the central vortex of a whirlwind where rotation around a vertical axis is rapid, the air is partially thrown out by centrifugal tendency, but there remains plenty of air.

To remove all air from an enclosure has never been attained by [illegible] the most accurate air pumps; there still remains a few millionths of the original quantity.

Q.—When did the Winter solstice occur last year?

A.—At 2:45 a. m., December 22, 1913, 120th meridian, standard time. At some instant during that minute the sun apparently began its northern motion, really due to the motion of the earth. It was farthest south during a differential of time.

Q.—A brick wall in a large building in Paris bulged out of plumb and was drawn in straight by heating heavy bars of iron passed through and anchored, when upon cooling the rods contracted and drew the walls with great force. Now, why will not the contraction and expansion of iron and steel in huge concrete buildings damage the walls?"

A.—This variation in lengths of heavy steel bars and girders will injure the enclosing walls, whether of stone, brick or Portland cement, unless the builders make allowance for it.

The risk is not so great in California as in the Northern States. Thus a high building enclosing heavy steel girders and beams in Duluth and Chicago must be builded with greater care on this important point than at any place in California in more equable temperature. Thus, in Chicago the cold has been 32 degrees below zero, F., and 104 above, a difference of 136 degrees.

Scientific tests have been made with this result: A bar of ordinary structural steel increases its length by the .00000672 part with each added degree F. Therefore, in from 40 to 200 feet, these variations become quite appreciable and must be compensated for by placing ends of beams, bars and uprights free to move. And electrolysis of steel and iron is another danger, one that arises from fugitive currents of electricity escaping from mains and forming obscure circuits in buildings and pipes.
